Yes due to lack of action to remedy- no one called me back after I spoke to u last night, chief did not call me as u promised, and signs were not returned to me or put back up.

After further investigation, I determined one sign was on private property and not in violation - that was returned. Your attorney has response from our attorney. Call if you have questions

Returned where? All signs had the homeowners permission to place.

One was on the HOA median another was on the HOA property next to a residence (it looks like it is on private property and very close, but outside). I made them take me out and show me where the signs were. Has your attorney contacted you.
